Mr. Laizure thinks that he is lucky in not catching the coal directly in the eye.

Last Sunday evening a little before 7 o'clock a fire alarm was sounded and the fire company started out with the hose cart to find the fire but returned without having located it. The fire started in the sheriff's office at the court house and is supposed to have originated from a match thrown down behind a trunk belonging to Verne Brado, the office deputy. The fire was put out without difficulty and did but little damage.

This term of court has been the quietest which has been held in this County for a number of years. Most of the cases which have been tried were cases of little importance except those brought by the receiver of the First National Bank and the County cases. In some instances the jury was unable to agree to a verdict and mistrials have resulted. Taken altogether, the term has been one of but little importance and this was all on account of there not being sufficient funds in the Territorial treasury to pay the expenses of the term.

G. E. Gustelios has been working for the Pyramid company for some time at irregular intervals. Thanksgiving day the boarding house rounded him up to have him work around to square his board bill. He owed some thirty dollars board and had about twenty dollars coming to him. He went to the office where C. W. McCormick happened to be alone, and told him he wanted the forty-five dollars coming to him. As he accompanied the request with a forty-five dollar check, which he pointed at Mac, it was acceded to. Gustelios signed a receipt for the money. Gustelios went down to the boarding house and settled his bill and then went to another house. Mr. McCormick gave the alarm and the camp was soon after the man. Superintendent Hamilton offered Nick Hughes fifty dollars to arrest the man and Nick went and got him. Friday he was brought up before Judge Titus and sent to jail to await the action of the next grand jury.—Western Liberal.

A Candidate For Judicial Honors.

Having understood that Col. H. L. Pickett of our city is prominent candidate for the U. S. Circuit Judgeship of this district we have taken pains to inform ourselves somewhat in regard to his public career in his native state, Tennessee, before he came to this country to engage in the practice of law.

We quote from an article which appeared in the Lebanon, Tenn., Herald about the time of his departure for the west: "After having graduated with distinction in the Literary College at Murfreesboro, he taught school a number of years and became so prominently identified with the cause of education that he was made county superintendent of schools of our county in 1877 in which position he proved himself to be a strong, bold and fearless advocate of popular education.

Shortly after his graduation in the law department of Cumberland University he was chosen to represent Wilson county in the legislature of 1879-80, and while there he fought every measure that tended toward reckless extravagance or a waste of the public revenue. He was so popular with the members of that body that the new county of Pickett was named in honor of him without a dissenting vote."

Col. Pickett has been engaged in practicing law in this Territory since some time in 1883, during which time he has resided in Silver City and can certainly look with pride to the successful and profitable practice which he has enjoyed in all the courts of the Territory and we take pleasure in testifying to the fact that his special qualifications in a legal way to fill the important position of judge is well supported by another most necessary qualification, his general standing and reputation in the community in which he lives.

The "Boodle" Cases.

The attention of the court was occupied, nearly all of last week with the cases of the Territory against A. H. Morehead, S. P. Carpenter, T. W. Cobb, J. H. Bragaw, H. H. Whitehill and Al. Card. They were jointly indicted for conspiracy to defraud the County of Grant, and the cases were set for Monday of last week. There was considerable delay in getting a jury and a special venire was issued and jurors were summoned from Pinos Altos, Georgetown, Deming and other points. On Thursday afternoon it was found that another venire would have to be issued to fill the jury and the attorneys agreed to proceed to trial with the ten jurors already selected. There was a nolle entered as to H. H. Whitehill and Al. Card, and Mr. Cobb was beyond the jurisdiction of the court. Judge Newcomb, of Las Cruces, was employed by the County to assist the district attorney in the prosecution of the cases. The attorneys for the defense were S. M. Ashenfelter and Joseph Boone, of Deming, and G. D. Bantz and J. J. Bell, of this city.

The first witness called was E. M. Young, probate clerk of the County. He brought up a number of books and testified as to the County records in his office. M. W. Neff was next called. He was treasurer of the County at the time the bonds were issued and testified as to the record of the bonds.

Eugene Cogrove, who was one of the committee which investigated the records and accounts of the County, was called Friday afternoon and testified as to the findings of that committee.

An adjourned session was held Friday evening. A. J. Loomis, another member of the committee of investigation, was called Saturday morning, and Harry W. Lucas, the remaining member of the committee, was called Saturday afternoon. The testimony of this committee was mainly confined to the matter in the report of the committee which was published about two years ago.

The prosecution, after having put in a part of the evidence in the case, entered a nolle as to J. H. Bragaw.

Several witnesses were examined yesterday and the evidence was not all in until half past three in the afternoon. The argument of the case was then commenced and after two hours had been occupied by the lawyers the judge delivered his charge and the jury went out. A verdict of not guilty was returned.

Mining and Milling.

The hearing of the mining case of Eberle vs. Carmichael is in progress at Socorro before Special Master Williams. Eberle located three claims joining each other on the Queen lode in the Silver Creek district and, instead of doing assessment work on each of the claims, did all of the work on one claim. The remaining two claims were jumped by Carmichael. The question at issue is whether work done on one of a group of claims will hold the other claims. The claims in litigation are very valuable and the case will undoubtedly be taken up on appeal regardless of the decision of the Socorro court. Thos. B. Catron and J. S. Sniffen represent Eberle and T. E. Conner and H. L. Pickett represent Carmichael.

Sunday Messrs. Hobbs and Dunlap were working in P. H. McDermott's mine at Piedmont. They were in a drift and had among other things a number of caps, ten pounds of black powder, fifteen pounds of giant powder and a lot of fuse. In some manner unknown one of the caps was exploded. This set off the other caps, which were in a gold pan, and the black powder was ignited and flashed, the flash set the giant on fire and it all burned up. When the first cap went off it knocked the men down. About the time they got up they started to run and were knocked down again. Just what happened and how it happened they are not certain, but when they got out neither of them felt like sitting down. They came to Lardburg Monday and Dr. Clark picked a number of pieces of caps, quarts and gold pan from that portion of their anatomy which was most exposed when they were running away. One piece of gold pan about as large as a dime was buried nearly two inches deep in Hobbs' leg.—Western Liberal.

Col. Willis J. Hullings, accompanied by his brothers W. Howard and Arthur A., arrived in the city this week to look at the Atwood property in which their father was largely interested before his death. Jas. Pearson, a mining engineer, is here with them. They intend investigating the property thoroughly and if they come to the conclusion that it can be worked profitably they will go it to get out some of the money that other men have dropped in that shaft.—Liberal.

The Pyramid Silver Mining Company shipped a car load of concentrates last week. The company's property is looking better than ever before.

A contract has been made with James Tong to sink the shaft on the Jim Crow mine near Carlisle 250 feet deeper. The shaft is down about 40 feet so that the contract shall have been completed the shaft will be down nearly 300 feet. The mine was sold some time ago and the deed was placed in escrow pending the development of the property by the purchasers. The final payment is to be made next April when the deed will be delivered. Considerable development work will be done before that time.

Shipments of ore from Cook's Peak have not been very large lately on account of the fact that the railroad company cannot furnish cars enough in which to ship the ore. The mine in that camp are looking well and it is expected that the shipments this month will be larger than ever before.

The big discovery of silver ore which was reported near Hillsborough a few weeks ago turned out to be worthless. Quite a number of mines were located by J. C. Carrera who stated that it was the biggest deposit of zinc in this country. Investigation has shown that the ore is too low grade to be any value.

THE METAL MARKET.

Silver has been advancing steadily in spite of the prediction that democratic success at the polls meant a lower price of silver. There is little hope that the international monetary conference will accomplish anything in the interest of silver. The proposition of Rothschild has been rejected and the conference is no nearer a solution of the question than when it assembled. The closing price of silver in New York was 80.

The demand for copper has been heavy and the price has advanced. Sales in New York for the week amounted to over 5,000,000 pounds. The closing price was 12.

There has been a further decline in the price of lead and the price in New York is now 3.65 which is the lowest of the year.

Obituary.

Idus L. Fieder, one of the most prominent attorneys in this part of the Territory, died yesterday morning a little after 4 o'clock. On Saturday he was in attendance at court and Saturday afternoon took part in the examination of two candidates for admission to the bar. He had not been feeling well for several days and on Sunday he grew worse, but there was no apprehension that the trouble was anything serious. During the night he complained to his colored servant considerably and told him that he believed he was going to die. He said that his hands felt numb and that his side seemed to be paralyzed. His servant turned him over and rubbed his hands and he became quiet. The servant thought he had gone to sleep and did not discover that he was dead until some time afterward.

Judge Fieder was born in Georgia September 21, 1833, and was a graduate of the University of Virginia and of the law school of the University of Georgia. He began the practice of law in partnership with his father, Herbert Fieder, in Georgia but removed to Ozark, Arkansas in 1877 where he engaged in the practice of law with his brother, C. C. Fieder. While he was a resident of Arkansas he was elected to the state legislature. On September 21, 1881, he married Miss Maude Clegg, of Van Buren, Ark., and on account of bronchial trouble he removed to Deming in 1883. He resided there about two years and then removed to Silver City where he has since resided. He succeeded in building up a large law practice and was a very successful lawyer. At the democratic Territorial convention held at Albuquerque last May he was elected a delegate to the National convention at Chicago where he made a strong fight for a free silver plank in the National platform.

He was man of brilliant attainments and had a generous nature. His friends were legion and his untimely death will be deeply regretted. He leaves a wife and an only son, nine years of age. The funeral will be from his late residence this morning at 10 o'clock.
